"President and Mrs. Joseph E. Gibson send you
Christmas greetings from Gulf Park"

Weekly WGCM Radio Show On Gulf Park Happenings

Gulf Park College is "on the air" each week over Radio WGCM, in Gulfport. The program, known as Meet Gulf Park, is a 15-minute show, which goes on the air every Monday evening at 5:00 until 5:15. Featuring Susan Benedict, a senior, the show deals with the current events and happenings on the campus. Interviews are made, speech projects are used, and student participation is urged.

The idea for Meet Gulf Park was originated by Susan during the second semester of last year—1959-1960. Through the approval of the Executive Committee, and the donation of time by Mr. Jim Reese, manager of WGCM, the show was effectuated. Susan, whose interests lie in Theatre Arts, and Radio and Television, has taken full responsibility of the program since that time.

President Gibson stands fully behind Meet Gulf Park. In a recent commentary, he asserted, "The weekly radio program as given by Susan Benedict is exceedingly interesting and worthwhile. From the viewpoint of Gulf Park students or teachers, it is especially interesting because they know the persons mentioned and they are glad to have the story of the college so widespread week-by-week.

From the standpoint of the citizen of the Coast or the listener within reach of the WGCM Radio Station, it ought to be very instructive, for it conveys knowledge of Gulf Park College that the average listener does not have."

He continued by saying, "Both Mr. Jim Reese, Manager of the station, and I agree that Susan Benedict has a fine future as a woman radio announcer if she trains for that work and wants to go into it professionally. Needless to say, we are grateful to Susan for her enterprise and for her extraordinary imagination coupled with natural aptitude in putting on this program."

According to Susan, there is much responsibility involved, hut she feels that it is an honor and privilege to represent the school, and every bit of work involved is extremely worthwhile.

Students Assist at Annual College Open House Program

The annual Open House was held Sunday afternoon, November 20, at Gulf Park College. One hundred and thirty-five distinguished guests from town were invited. Noon dinner was in the dining room for the hostesses and their guests. Hostesses were chosen from the Student Council officers and officers of the various clubs on campus. After dinner a tour began, which included Hardy and Lloyd Dormitories, the Library, the Art Studio, and the Y-hut. The tour continued until 3:00 p.m.

The guests seemed to be fascinated by the various colors and furniture arrangement of the rooms. All of the girls had a most enjoyable time greeting the guests and showing them the campus.

Conduct Annual Classes in Etiquette for All Students

Each year, at Gulf Park College, etiquette classes are conducted for all of the new students. The classes pertain primarily to social adaptation, and are based on the ancient teachings of Confucious and of Christ that have been considered protocol throughout the ages.

Faculty members conducted the classes, which every girl must attend before she completes her first year at Gulf Park, whether she is in the High School or College Division of the school. This year, the classes began on Tuesday, October 21, at 8:15 in the morning, and were scheduled to meet for six consecutive weeks.

Miss Ramsey lectured on good table manners, and included in her discussions, general rules for good etiquette. Miss Brock turned to the business side of politeness, and explained to the girls the procedure of check writing, use of business language, and gave a few pointers on being a good employee.

Conversation was Miss Picking's topic. She instructed the girls on the significance of good speaking habits, and suggested ways in which one may successfully use "the art of conversation." Posture entered the classroom, too, for Miss Morrison lectured on, and encouraged the correct way of walking, sitting, and standing. In her classroom, a self-analysis was made, so that the girls could see exactly where their own posture needed improving. Also in the area of outward attractiveness, was the subject of applying makeup correctly, demonstrated by Miss Schreiber. Different face types, hair styles, and a variety of cosmetics entered the discussion.

All in all, the etiquette classes gave the girls a sense of ease in social life. They made everyone aware of how she could improve. These classes are just one example of the programs at Gulf Park College that encourage one to be gracious, lady-like, and poised in every circumstance.

Halloween Is Occasion For Banquet, Trick or Treatin'

The goblins were out and Trick or Treat was the cry, as the Gulf Park students assembled in the dining room Monday night, October 31, for the annual Halloween candlelight banquet.

The Halloween theme and colors were carried out with eyecatching decorations. On the tables, were owls, witches and other eerie creatures, as centerpieces with orange candles on each side. At each plate, a Halloween nut cup and crepe paper hats were placed. The hats did not remain on the table very long, for in no time after their discovery, was an array of Halloween hats moving with each head.

The occasion brought the girls out in cocktail dresses of varied colors. All but the Seniors, that is, and they chose black to carry out the Halloween color scheme with their orange hats. Besides, who is not striking in a black cocktail dress?

The underclassmen who wore colorful fashions, included Judy Rivard, who looked lovely, as usual, in a red and green printed chiffon dress with a round draped neckline, the highlight being a bow in the back. Barbara Matthews' deep blue satin dress with matching shoes was stunning. Beverly Boswell's navy blue sheath with three quarter length sleeves and a square neckline trimmed in white lace made one take a second look also.

Everyone had a delightful time filled with laughter and celebrating, which didn't cease after the banquet. No sooner had the girls returned to their rooms than they began weirdly styling their hair, applying eyeshadow for lipstick, and putting on the nearest things to Halloween costumes they could find. Then they all broght back childhood memories and went "trick or treating" at 9:00 p.m. release. This Halloween certainly turned out to be a "howling" success.

Quarter Examination Results

Our first quarter examinations, which were November 10, 11, and 12, are now over, much to the delight of many Gulf Park students and faculty members, and the second quarter is well in progress. For some, studying netted fine results, for according to Dean Sadler, a total of 83 students fared well enough to qualify for Honorable Mention and the Deans' List.

Award Athletic Letters

As the result of the fine sportsmanship shown in the Volleyball Tournaments, Varsity Letters were awarded at dinner, Wednesday, November 16, to eight deserving girls, each representing teams from their respective classes. Award winners from the Senior Class were Judy Sparks, Nancy Taylor, Nancy Harrill, and Jane Andrae.

For her active participation on the Junior team, an award went to Shirley McKay. From the High School Drucilla Jones, Jo Strauss, and Pat Dugan won awards.

High School Wins Goat

The High School claimed the Goat at dinner Monday, November 14, for sailing. Because the High School had the only crew eligible to participate in the sailing races, it was declared automatic winner.

'Autumn Leaves' Theme Of Tri-Sorority Dance

"Autumn Leaves" was the theme for the Tri-Sorority dance, held this year on Saturday, November 5. The theme was carried out in a lovely array of autumn colored crepe paper streamers, which gave the illusion of a false ceiling. A multi-colored crepe paper ball hung from the center of the Auditorium.

Guests were received by President and Mrs. Gibson, Dr. and Mrs. Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. Coulon, Dean Rine, and the three sorority presidents—Grace Kinnett, Linda Gray, and Virginia Lee Dorsey.

Fashions played an important role, as always at Gulf Park formal functions. The three sorority presidents chose short formals. Grace Kinnett wore a white chiffon with a full skirt and halter neckline. Linda Gray wore a black chiffon with scoop neckline and small rhinestone straps. Jenny Lee Dorsey's gown of deep pink net with the bodice and shoulder strap ornamented with iridescent, sequined, flower appliques.

Ann Willock was outstanding in her short, aqua lace formal. Judy Livingston decided on a long formal of white nylon with a skirt of lace ruffles. Bonnie Jo Russell chose a long dress of pink nylon lace. Susan Benedict was striking in an oriental way with her strapless, floor length gown of beige satin brocade with contrasting satin pumps.

The music was supplied by a combo from Pensacola. Dancing was continuous from eight till twelve with breaks to the dining room for refreshments. The music ceased at midnight and everyone enjoyed coffee and doughnuts in the dining room.

A gala affair, it certainly was, and everyone "could have danced all night."

Thirty Make Trip to New Orleans for Tulane Game

Approximately thirty Gulf Park girls attended the Tulane-William and Mary football game in New Orleans, Saturday, October 29, at the Sugar Bowl Stadium.

Leaving after classes that afternoon, and chaperoned by Miss Milden, Mrs. Guthrie, and Mr. Coulon, they went by chartered bus to New Orleans, stopping at Morrison's Cafeteria for dinner, before the game. The next stop was the football stadium. Even though Tulane was victorious by a large margin, (44 to 6) everyone said it was a very good game. No matter what the score, a college game is always thrilling. Pat Payne, a sophomore at Gulf Park, accounts for the rest of the trip as follows:

"After the game, we took a tour through the French Quarter and stopped at the Morning Call Cafe for the best doughnuts and coffee I've ever had. We were very tired and sleepy by this time, and grateful to see the bus. Most of us slept on the way back, dreaming of our wonderful trip."

President, Mrs. Gibson Entertain at Class Teas

President and Mrs. Gibson graciously welcomed the Gulf Park students into their home, giving teas in honor of each of the classes.

On October 10, the Senior Class was entertained from 3:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon. Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Roter served tea and coffee. The following week, October 17, the same hours were reserved for the Junior Class. Miss Picking and Miss Morrison served for this occasion. Mrs. Throgmorton, Miss Smith, and Miss Pinckney served on November 7, when the High School was honored.

Each of the classes was delighted with President Gibson's hi-fi set, which he was eager to share with everyone. Records were not the only topic of conversation, though, for Nikki, the Gibson's Siamese cat, came out to greet the guests, too.

Fall colors made their debuts at Gulf Park at the teas, and some very exciting fashions apepared. Outfits of autumn golds and browns, and various shades of blue made us feel that cool weather is fast approaching.

ANNUAL PENSACOLA TRIP IS EXCITING WEEKEND

The annual Pre-Flight Regimental Fall Formal, at the United States Naval Air Station in Pensacola, was planned this year for October 22, and Gulf Park girls were graciously invited to spend the weekend as guests of the Cadets.

In response to the invitation, four buses, carrying the excited girls, arrived in Pensacola, on Saturday, at approximately 12:00 p.m. The fun-filled weekend began when the girls were met at the buses by prearranged and blind dates. After the necessary introductions were made, and luggage placed in the barracks, the girls and Cadets proceeded to the Mess Hall for brunch.

Immediately after brunch, both Cadets and dates went to their respective quarters to prepare for the afternoon football game. The game was at 2:00 p.m., and was between Elgin Air Force Base and the Pensacola "Goshawks." The Pensacola team was victorious.

Following the football game, the girls were taken to their barracks where they could relax and prepare for the highlight of the weekend —the Pre-Flight Ball at the Mustin Beach Officer's Club. At the dance, the couples were welcomed by a receiving line. When the couples had moved through the line, they were seated for a delicious turkey dinner. The menu also included turkey dressing, peas, salad, coffee, and ice cream for dessert. A small combo played throughout the dinner until 9:00, when the orchestra took the stage, and began to play music for dancing.

Then came the moment everyone had been waiting for—the Preliminary Miss Pre-Flight ceremonies. A selection of ten girls was made from the bevy of pretty guests for Miss Pre-Flight contestants. The guests and their Cadet dates were spotlighted and introduced to the audience as semi-finalists.

The dance then proceeded, while the judges deliberated. When the decision was made, the top five finalists were again introduced, and Miss Pre-Flight wwas chosen. This year, an attractive wife of one of the Cadets was crowned Miss Pre-Flight. Gulf Park College was well represented, for Ruth Ann Beuter and Pat Gibson were included in the top ten, and Nancy Phillips, Libby Truax, and Annette Powers were elected to the court. The members of the court were presented with flowers, a trophy, and a tiara.

The dance came to a close around 1:00 a.m., and the Cadets took their dates back to the designated quarters.

Sunday's events began with church services held in the main auditorium. At the service, special music was presented by the renowned Naval Air Training Choir, making the solemnity of the occasion inspiring to all. Next on the agenda was the ACRAC, where an informal dance was held. Dinner was served and music by the Krazy Cats added spice and variety to the afternoon.

Senior volleyballers are shown at work and at play after victory over High School

The weekend came to a close at approximately 4:00 p.m. as the girls boarded the buses and departed for Gulf Park. The girls arrived on campus later in the evening exhausted, happy, and with memories long to be cherished. Everyone had a delightful time, and is looking forward to the next trip to Pensacola, which will be in the spring of the year.

SENIORS TAKE VOLLEYBALL CHAMPIONSHIP, GOAT

The deciding game ended and the mighty Seniors again came out on top, carrying home with them, his Majesty the Goat. The games were tense at times during the tournament but as usual, the never tiring Seniors pulled through.

The tournament lasted three days, each day consisting of a match of two out of three games.

The first match was played between the Seniors and Juniors. The Seniors superb team work and high spirit enabled them to win in two short games, the scores being 15-3 and 15-10.

The second day found the Juniors and High School competing for victory. The High School took the match in two games with a five point margin in each, which entitled them to play the Seniors on the following day.

On the third and final day excitement was extremely high, but again the calm, cool, and collected Seniors strolled onto the volleyball court with an air of confidence. The High School put up a good fight, but the Seniors proved to be too much for them, winning the first game 15-8, followed by a second game of 15-10.

The Goat was presented at a victory banquet that evening to Nancy Taylor, Captain of the team, and Betty Brite, President of the class, who proudly represented the Senior Class and the team in accepting this honor. The winning team consisted of Nancy Harrill, Nancy Taylor, Sandy Hunter, Sandra Zuck, Sally Mason, Vicky Burroughs, Jane Andrae, and Judy Sparks.

ADMINISTER OATH TO STUDENT COUNCIL AND CLASS REPRESENTATIVES

The candlelight Student Council Installation was held Wednesday afternoon, November 16. A harp solo, Clair de Lune, was presented by Shirley Lou McKee. A prayer was read by Bonnie Jo Russell, President of the Student Counicl. The prayer (quoted following this account) was in the form of a letter which a father wrote when his daughter went away to college.

The oath of Student Council officers was administered to Judy Livingston, Vice-President, and Etta Dykes, Secretary. The other Student Council Representatives then took the oath followed by an oath taken by the student body. The singing of the Alma Mater ended the Installation ceremony.

Letter Prayer

"Dear Lord:

My daughter starts to college this month. It's all going to be strange and new for awhile, and I pray that you will treat her gently. You see, up to now, she's been our little queen. Her mother has always been around to repair her wounds, and I've always been handy to sooth her feelings.

But now it's going to be different. To live her life in the world she has to live in will require faith and love and courage. So, God, I pray you will take her gently by the hand and teach her the things she will have to know. Teach her —but gently, if you can.

She will have to learn, I know, that all men are not just, that all men are not true, but teach her also that for every scoundrel there is a hero, that for every crooked politician, there is a dedicated leader. Teach her that for every enemy there is a friend.

It will take time, God, I know, but teach her to learn to lose, and to enjoy winning. Steer her away from envy if you can, and teach her the secret to quiet laughter. Teach her, if you can, the wonder of books. But also give her time to ponder the eternal mystery of nature, the birds in the sky, our oceans and rivers and the creatures there-in, flowers in a valley and the rapture of the mountains.

In school, O God, teach her it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat. Teach her to have faith in her own ideals, even if everyone else tells her they are wrong. Try to give my daughter the strength not to follow the crowd just because everyone is getting on the band wagon. Teach her to listen to all men, but teach her also to filter all she hears on a screen of truth and take only the good that comes through.

Teach her to close her eyes to a laugh when she is sad. Teach her there is no shame in tears, and teach her there can be glory in failure and despair in success.

Teach her to close her eyes to howling mob, and to stand and fight if she thinks she's right. Teach her gently, God, but don't coddle her, because only the test of fire makes fine steel. Let her have the courage to be impatient and let her have the patience to be brave.

Teach her always to have faith in THEE and in herself, then she can never be defeated in anything.

This is a big prayer, God, but see what you can do. She's such a fine girl—My Daughter!"

STUDENTS JOIN IN 21st ANNUAL EVANGELINE TOUR

The twenty-first Evangeline Tour started early Saturday morning, November 26, when two small buses left Gulf Park. The first stop was at the Capitol of Louisiana in Baton Rouge where the party was guided through the landmark by the superintendent of the building.

After leaving Baton Rouge, they stopped at Lafayette, La. and visited the campus of Southwestern University. Then they visited a dairy farm, milk processing plant, and ice cream factory where samples are always enjoyed by the Gulf Park guests.

The next stop was in New Iberia at the Hotel Fredrick, which was their headquarters for the following two days. Saturday night there was a visit to a sugar factory where

SING SONG HONORS GO TO WINNING JUNIORS

"A night to remember," was the expression used by President Gibson as he described the annual Sing Song, which this year was held November 20, at 7:00 in the evening. It was a night to remember, for it brought the whole of each class good-naturedly competing against the other classes for His Majesty, the Goat. Each class—the Seniors, Juniors, and High School—displayed fine talent and excellent sportsmanship throughout the program.

The Seniors, under the direction of Nancy Harrill, drew to sing first. They began by singing their new Alma Mater, entitled "Our Senior Hearts," written by Sally Mason and Nancy Harrill. Next, they sang their pep song, which had been written by Prissy Solomons. Their performance ended with "Pride and Honor," an old Alma Mater. The class was costumed in black except for the girls on the end of each row, who wore white blazers.

For the Juniors, Betty Turner and Susan Van Hecke were co-directors. The Juniors, in black skirts, white blouses, and navy blue ribbons, were the winners of the Goat and they certainly deserved the honor. They exhibited vitality and pertness beyond compare. Credit is due to Pat McCroskey, Judy Rivard, Rosserlyn Ramsay, Shirley McKee, and Linda Larkin for their new Alma Mater; Betty Speaker, Carol Sheets, and Susan Shaver for their pep song; and Missie McCroskey, Eleanor Nunnery, and Susan Kennedy for their presentation song. The Junior cheerleaders, Yuteve Thorne, Pat Gibson, Bonnie Adair, Margaret Holmes, Pam Morlock, and Jane Hodges, added just the right amount of pep to give the Juniors the votes of the Judges. We congratulate the Juniors.

The High School, although they didn't stick to their tradition of winning the goat, did, as usual, present fine showmanship, of which they can justly be proud. For the High School, Carolyn R. Campbell, Stephanie Pitts, and Jo Strauss, wrote the new Alma Mater; Robin Boys and Rilla Carter wrote the everyone saw how sugar is processed. More samples were received.

After an early breakfast Sunday morning, the travelers left for St. Martinville where they visited Evangeline Oak on the bank of the Teche Bayou, where Gabriel and Evangeline met, according to legend.

The next stop was at a museum where relics of the past days of Louisiana are on display and many of them may be purchased. After a short stop there, they visited St. Martinville church, which is one of the most beautiful and historic churches of the Deep South. From this church they went to the Post Office, which is the only Post Office in the country which at one time was a Colonial Mansion. The Post Office is located in what once was the drawing room.

The next stop on the morning tour was Gabriel's home, the center of attraction in the Evangeline State Park. A guided tour was made of the anti-bellum home. An hour and a half break was taken for Sunday dinner. In the afternoon a visit was made to Avery Island where rare birds by the thousands may be seen. A visit was also made to the island where a Buddha statue was seen resting in his oriental glass house. After leaving this garden they visited a salt mine and pottery factory where again samples were received. On Sunday night they attended the church of their choice.

They had early breakfast in the morning, and then were off for New Orleans. Enroute stops were made along banks of the Teche where barges loaded with sugar cane, were seen. Immediately before arriving in New Orleans they crossed the Huey P. Long Bridge which spans the mighty Mississippi River. They had lunch in New Orleans and then boarded the Mayor's yacht, Good Neighbor, which is operated by the Port Commission and the city of New Orleans, for a two hour trip up and down the Mississippi River. They left New Orleans at 5:00 p.m.. and arrived at Gulf Park College about 7:00 in time for study period.
